Subject: New proposed rules for development

Since I'm a land owner and realtor - ran the USDA ASCS now Called FSA office 22 years and have been full time realtor for past 18 years in Boone County- if you want to prevent growth pass a bunch of new regulations

I helped the Smithson's and the Judah's to bring their farms into the city limits--over 200 acres -- and why is Thornbrook sub in the city limits?

Development in the city is or has been much more friendly to a developer than the county

Buyers either forget what their realtor told them or failed to seek other professional advice about zoning , who owns and maintains the road, covenants, proper road easements and maintenance agreements--we can over regulate to appease a few and harm the majority

I can't make the meeting due to a conflict.

Do you have the Boone County Farm Bureau support?

Sincerely,

Don Emery
